

Unions call national strike in private health sector

 Italy

The three main trade union confederations - CGIL, CISL and UIL - have called on the 150,000 workers in the private health sector to strike on 18 September in protest at the continuing failure of the employers to negotiate a new collective agreement. It is now 30 months since the last agreement expired. The unions will also mount a demonstration in Rome on the same day.
