

EPSU in Szolidaritás with Hungarian unions in protest against slave laws

(17 January 2019) The Hungarian unions are organizing a national protest against the slave laws of the Orban government, 19 January. EPSU supports the protests. Workers and the unions are protesting the law that allows the employers to demand up to 400 hours of overtime of people. Payment of overtime can be at normal rates and the employer gets up to three years to actually compensate the workers for the overtime. The law neglects the effect overtime has on health and safety of workers and on work-life balance.

For the EPSU solidarity letter

For more information

For background on Industrial relations in Hungary

 Hungary

- Log in to post comments
- EPSU solidarity letter to Hungary for demonstration against slave laws of Orban government
- Printer-friendly version

Policies

Solidarity

Union Rights

Working Time