Transnational bargaining and "flexicurity" among key themes at ETUC collective bargaining summer school

Europe

The main issues discussed at this year's ETUC collective bargaining summer school included transnational bargaining, “flexicurity”, precarious employment and working time. These were all debated along with the normal review of collective bargaining developments across Europe.
Read more at > EPSU (EN)

epsucob
18 epsucob@NEWS 11 September 2006

- Printer-friendly version