

New private sector pensions system

 Norway

The EIRO industrial relations observatory reports that unions and employers have agreed a new pension system for the private sector. At the moment the public sector retains its system that provides workers with a pension worth two-thirds of income at retirement. In contrast the private sector system will be adjusted according to life expectancy, prices and wages and pensions will not keep pace with average earnings.

Read more at > EIRO

epsucob

epsucob@NEWS 19 August 2005

- Printer-friendly version