

More collective bargaining news from across Europe

Europe

The latest edition of collective bargaining news from the European Trade Union Institute contains several articles on developments in the public services, including resistance to privatisation in Croatia and Greece, a strike over staffing levels at Limassol hospital in Cyprus, a national strike over pay by midwives in Iceland, the latest on the six-hour-day experiment at the Svartedalen care home in Sweden and a report on pay differentials for civil servants doing the same work in Germany.
