

UK - English Heritage workers make their point

 U.K.

Workers at English Heritage, the public service body that looks after some of the UK's most famous historical monuments such as Stonehenge and Hadrian's Wall took two hours' strike action last month. They were protesting at an average 1.5% pay increase (inflation in the UK is currently at 3.4%).

Read more at > PCS

And at > Prospect

epsucob

epsucob@NEWS 4 July 2005

- Printer-friendly version