

Unions express their opposition to proposed decentralisation process

 France

Public service unions in France continue to express their reservations about the process of decentralisation which will see 135,000 civil servants currently employed centrally transferred to the responsibility of local and regional government. Local authorities too are worried about the impact of the transfer and the extent to which adequate levels of financing will be provided for the municipalities.

Read more at > UGFF-CGT

epsucob

epsucob@NEWS 16 September 2005

- Printer-friendly version