

National demonstration 27 November in Roma for the future of youth and work

(25 November, Brussels). The Italian CGIL has called for a national demonstration this Saturday 27 November for “The future of our youth and work”. The march demands more rights and more democracy. It also demands more equality and justice to get out of the crisis. Another aspect of the march is to denounce the terrible living and working condition in which many migrant workers find themselves into.

EPSU welcomes the initiative of one of its Italian affiliates and wishes a good demonstration. It will take place at the same time that the Irish unions will be protesting against the austerity measures in Ireland.

Here you can read the CGIL leaflet in English, Spanish and French.
