

Union criticises incoherent hospital jobs policy

🇩🇰 Denmark

The FOA public services union has attacked the decision by some hospitals to cut jobs because of increased productivity. The union argues that hospital workers have been successful in treating more patients than ever before but the outcome for many is redundancy. FOA also points out the decisions by individual hospitals effectively contradict government policy that has targeted reductions in jobs in the municipalities over the next couple of years in order to provide more health sector jobs.
