

Lifelong learning statistics

 Europe

The European Commission's statistical agency Eurostat has just released figures which show that nearly 60% of 25-64 year-olds across Europe didn't take part in any education or training activity in 2003. It also shows that those with lower levels of skills and education were less likely to take part in training than workers with higher qualifications.

Read more at > Eurostat

epsucob

epsucob@NEWS 16 September 2005

- Printer-friendly version