

Union argues that work on safe staffing levels should continue

 U.K.

Public services union UNISON is very concerned about the decision of the National Institute for Health and Care Excellence (NICE) to suspend its work developing guidance on safe staffing levels throughout the National Health Service. The union says that guidance on staffing levels in acute clinical settings made a real difference and similar guidance is needed in other services such as maternity, mental health and community services.

NHS – working in A&E departments.

Read more at > UNISON

epsucob

2015 June epsucob@NEWS 08

- Printer-friendly version